Flower & Herb Seeds 2022

Description and use

Per species and / or variety a brief description of the plant is given. The information is for general guidance only. An indication of the predominant use of the species or variety is given by the following expressions:

bedding The display as such is important. A long flowering period – and the shortest possible cultivation time in packs or plugs – are essential. Bedding varieties usually have a dwarf, compact (and cultivated) plant habit and have sales appeal; they are mainly annual varieties for mass marketing.

border The plant as such is important: flowers and/or foliage, texture, flowering time etc. The duration of flowering – and the cultivation time – are less critical. Border varieties often have a natural, free flowering habit.

cutting Varieties used as fresh and/or dried cut flower.

rock Annual or perennial plants with restricted growth, suitable for rock gardens. These plants can mostly be pre-seeded and raised in pots for transplanting in the garden.

pot Patio plants or indoor (house) plants grown in pots.

climber Climbing or creeping varieties that are usually sown where they are to flower.

field flower Plants with an unpretentious yet charming habit (not necessarily wild or wild type flowers), sown direct or planted in casual, naturalistic plantings.

Explanation of symbols

Botanical name The flower seed range is listed in alphabetical order of the botanical name, followed by the herb seeds in alphabetical order. A synonym is given where appropriate.

S/gr The number of seeds per gram. This may differ considerably between the various lots or crop years, and is to be used as an indication only.

Price per 1000 seeds (M) The price per 1000 seeds (M) is a fixed price for the number of seeds while the quantity in weight may differ due to a different seed count (See S/gr).

P1 First year flowering perennials. These are species or varieties that flower in the same year from seed.

Cold germinator These seeds need stratification to get germination started. Best results are generally obtained when seed trays are kept at warm, humid conditions for 2-3 weeks followed by temperatures of 2-4°C for 4-6 weeks or until germination starts. Keep cool once germinated. A frost germinator needs a cooling period at approx. -5°C.

Company profile

Our company produces and supplies flower seeds to seed companies and distributors worldwide. The focus is on high quality seeds of cut flowers, perennial plants, bedding plants, innovative (open-pollinated) annuals for direct seeding, as well as contract production of vegetable seeds. EconSeeds BV is an independent company, operational since July 2008.

Graines Bertrand

In October 2016, EconSeeds BV acquired Graines Bertrand, an internationally renowned producer of quality flower seeds since 1947. This acquisition completes EconSeeds' installation of seed production facilities in the Loire Valley (France) working with production contracts for flower and vegetable seeds.

The flower seed range of Graines Bertrand has been included in this price list.

Graines Bertrand's flower seed mixtures

An important section in Bertrand's range consists in flower seed mixtures for specific areas and conditions (Aesthetics, Ecosystems...). To learn more about this range, please refer to our website www.bertrand-flowers.com

QIS® Cut and Dry Flower Seeds
