Thanks to rigorous selection and well-monitored production, we are able to supply the essential varieties that are at the core of any perennial assortment from seed.

Description and use

We have defined the best uses for our plant varieties, you can find them throughout this catalog to help you in your choices. Here is an explanation of each of its uses and their logos.

Bedding

Bedding

The display as such is important. A long flowering period - and the shortest possible cultivation time in packs or plugs - are essential. Bedding varieties usually have a dwarf, compact (and cultivated) plant habit and have sales appeal; they are mainly annual varieties, free flowering habit.

Border

Border

The plant as such is important: flowers and/or foliage, texture, flowering time etc. The duration of flowering - and the cultivation time - are less critical. Border varieties often have a natural, free flowering habit.

Cutting

Varieties used as fresh and/or dried cut flower.

Rock

Annual or perennial plants with restricted growth, suitable for rock gardens. These plants can mostly be pre-seeded and raised in pots for transplanting in the garden.

Pot

Patio plants or indoor (house) plants grown in pots.

Climber

Climbing or creeping varieties that are usually sown where they are to flower.

Everlasting / dry

Suitable for cuttings and to dry. This selection is durable and able to last for years when dried.

Edible

Annual and perennial plants that can partly or completely be consumed. Giving bloom and function to the flowers. Feel free to consult us if you have any doubts about the listed plants.

Pollinators

Biodiversity is important to us. Highlighting the articles that are best suited to attract and feed pollinators and other beneficial insects. These plants are open and welcoming to feed and house a full range of insects to stimulate biodiversity.

Organic Seeds

EconSeeds produce and trade certified organic seeds of flowers and vegetables. Discover the range in this catalogue.

New

Development and evaluation make it possible for us to renew our assortment and give new opportunities to grow your business. With our customers in mind, we are searching for new articles to be able to offer a complete range of articles.
